Slide 2 - Navigation

The screenshot shows a software interface with a dark blue header. On the left, there is a button with a left-pointing arrow and the text "Table of Contents". On the right, there is a button with the text "$$cpInfoCurrentSlide". The main content area has a white background with the title "Navigation Instructions" in a large, bold, dark blue font. Below the title, there is a paragraph of text: "You can Fast Forward or Rewind the lesson by using the Navigation bar at the bottom of the screen." Below this text is a horizontal navigation bar with a dark red background. On the left side of the bar are four small square buttons with icons: a play button, a right arrow, a double left arrow, and a double right arrow. A vertical blue arrow points down to the first button. In the center of the bar is a horizontal slider with a blue arrowhead pointing right. On the right side of the bar are three buttons: a left arrow, a double left arrow, and a button with the text "TOC". A vertical blue arrow points up to the "TOC" button. Below the navigation bar is a button with a right-pointing arrow and the text "Table of Contents". Below this button is another paragraph of text: "There is a Table of Contents, or TOC, located at the top left corner of the screen. Click the TOC button to the right of the Navigation bar to open or close the TOC. From the TOC, you can click on an item to jump to that section in the lesson." At the bottom center of the main content area is a button with the text "Start". The footer of the slide is a dark blue bar with the "AO" logo on the left and the text "Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts" and "Department of Technology Services" on the right.

Introduction & Objectives

This module highlights new and different features of NextGen CM/ECF. Discussions include:

- The benefits of redesigning the application.
- Logging in to NextGen CM/ECF.
- A review of the new interface.

Continue

AO Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts

Slide notes

This module will highlight new and different features of the next generation of CM/ECF. First, I'll point out some benefits of the redesigned application. Then, talk about the new process for logging in to CM/ECF, and finally look at the new and improved interface. Click Continue.

Slide 4 - Benefits

The slide content is displayed within a presentation window. At the top left of the window is a navigation bar with a left-pointing arrow and the text "Table of Contents". At the top right is a small red vertical bar and the text "$ScpInfoCurrentSlide". The main content area features a light beige header with the AO logo on the left and the text "Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts" and "Department of Technology Services" on the right. The center of the slide has the title "Benefits of NextGen" in a dark blue font, underlined with a red horizontal line. At the bottom of the slide is a dark blue footer with the AO logo on the left and the text "Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts" and "Department of Technology Services" on the right.

Slide notes

Slide 5 - Single Login

← Table of Contents $scpInfoCurrentSlide

Benefit of redesigning the application includes...

- ❖ NextGen will allow public filers a single username and password option to both retrieve information and file documents with the federal courts.

Slide notes

One major benefit of the redesigned application is that NextGen will allow public filers to use a single username and password to both retrieve information and file documents with the federal courts. Click Continue.

Slide 6 - No Java

← Table of Contents

Benefit of redesigning the application includes...

- ❖ No more Java plug-in downloads.

Slide notes

Another benefit of the redesigned application is that you will no longer be required to download and install Java Plug-ins. The application is no longer dependent on Java. Click Continue.

Slide 7 - Streamlined Interface

Slide notes

NextGen CM/ECF is designed to provide greater integration and consistency among the federal courts. In providing this consistency, how you log in to the CM/ECF application has changed. Instead of logging in from your local court's website, you will be redirected to log in through the PACER Login webpage. You'll use your upgraded PACER username and password. Optionally you can enter a client code or leave the field blank. After clicking Login...

Slide 10 - Slide 10

The screenshot shows the CM/ECF Appellate web interface. The browser address bar displays "https://ecf.cm1a.aocms.u...". The page features the CM/ECF logo on the left, which is annotated with a callout box stating "This logo links to the CM/ECF landing page." The navigation menu is right-justified and includes "Filing", "Reports", "Utilities", "Logout", "Getting Started", and "Help". Red arrows point to the "Reports" and "Utilities" menu items, with a callout box stating "Red arrows indicate a submenu." Another callout box states "Menu items are now right justified." The page title is "U.S. Court of Appeals CM/ECF Official Attorney Electronic Document Filing System". A disclaimer states: "This facility is for Official Court Business only. Activity to and from this site is logged. Document filings on this system are subject to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure, Rule 25. Evidence of unauthorized or criminal activity will be forwarded to the appropriate law enforcement officials under 18USC152 and 3571." A "Welcome" message says: "Welcome to the U.S. Court of Appeals Case Management/Electronic Case Files System. Please select an option from the menu." The last login time is "Tue Mar 18 15:02:32 EDT 2014". A link for "Court Information" is provided. The footer includes the AO logo and "Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts Department of Technology Services".

Slide notes

This is the new attorney filing main page. The new interface includes the new CM/ECF logo on each screen throughout the application. This logo is a link, and when clicked takes you back to this main CM/ECF landing page.

The same menu options as before are available, but are now right justified on the main page. With the old interface you had to select a menu item to know if it had submenus. In NextGen, you can now tell from the main page that a menu item has a submenu by the presence of a red arrow. The Reports and Utilities menu options have submenus.

Slide 14 - Slide 14

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the U.S. Court of Appeals CM/ECF website. The browser's address bar shows the URL <https://ecf.cm1a.aocms.u...> and the page title is "CM/ECF Appellate". The website header includes the "CM/ECF" logo and a navigation menu with links for "Filing", "Reports", "Utilities", "Logout", "Getting Started", and "Help". The main content area features the U.S. Court of Appeals seal and the text: "U.S. Court of Appeals CM/ECF Official Attorney Electronic Document Filing System". A disclaimer states: "This facility is for Official Court Business only. Activity to and from this site is logged. Document filings on this system are subject to Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure, Rule 25.
